DEATH OF HON. J. F. SNODGRASS. The message also communicated to the Senate intelligence of the death of Hon. John Fryatt Snorgrass, late a member of that House from the State of Virginia, and the proceedings of the House in relation thereto.

Mr. MASON. I discharge a melancholy office.
Mr. President, in asking the Senate to unite with me in the customary resolutions of respect to the memory of a colleague, whose death has just been announced from the House of Representatives.

Truly, we cannot tell what a day may bring forth. But little more than one week ago, when the two Houses were to be for a few days in recess my deceased colleague took as we all then the two Houses were to be for a few days in recess, my deceased colleague took 'as we all then believed) a short leave of his friends, availing himself of that interval for a brief visit to his home in Virginia. His health, somewhat infirm in later years, seemed to have been regenerated with the advancing spring, and he left us buoyant with hope, and rejoicing in the prospect of a speedy reunion with those he loved best on earth—his wife and infant children. He but lived to reach his distant home, and once more to bless them
with his presence.

Death, inexorable creditor of all who live, spec with him on this his last journey on earth—Pallida mors aquo pede pulsat. Yet how grateful is the recollection to those who survive, that he was spared a death amongst strangers, and that the devoted partner of his life shared his last look in

The subject of this brief tribute, Mr. President JOHN FRYATT SNOOGRASS, represented the eleventh congressional district of Virginia, in the House of Representatives. A native of the county of Berkeley, on the northern frontier of the valley of Virginia, he had removed in early life to the banks of the Ohio, and established his home at Parkershurg, in the county of Wood. burg, in the county of Wood.

His family are well known to me in his native county, occupying and cultivating their ancestral farms of more than a century, among the most respectable and respected of those, whose occupation develops the full dignity of man in social position—those who plow and till the soil that it may bring forth the fruits of the earth, the immediate diste almoners of the Deity, who has chosen and sent them forth as the true benefactors of their race; for who does not feel with England's gifted philosopher, when he gave it for his opinion: "that whoever could make two ears of corn or two blades of grass to grow upon a spot of ground where only one grew before, would deserve bet-ter of mankind and do more essential service to his country than the whole race of politicians put together.

Educated for the bar, Mr. Snodgrass soon rose to eminence in his profession, sustained and borne forward to success by diligence, labor, and spotless integrity.

It was my fortune to have known him in early life, before he sought his new home in the west, but his progress and advancement there were marked by those from among whom he had gone forth to the world. The charm of life to him was in private station.

It would seem from his career that public en ployment, with all its seductions for many, had few attractions for him. I have been informed that he was never a candidate for office, in its prothat he was never a candidate for office, in its proper sense, yet he was a man of fixed and stable opinion on the great measures of policy which divide the parties of the country—a republican of that democratic school instituted by Jefferson, and in which Henry, Wythe, Roan, and other homebred statesmen of Virginia were the illustrious teachers.

At the solicitation of his friends and neighbors At the solicitation of his friends and neighbors, he represented them, for the first time, in the convention of the State called to revise the constitution of Virginia, in 1850. Of that body he was what is usually termed a silent member with the flippant, perhaps a designation of disparagement; yet Jefferson, whose commanding istellect moulded and gave being to all the great institutions of our popular government, was himself always a silent member too. It is said, I think, of Mr. Jefferson, that, on even the greatest question before him, he seldom made a speech exceeding four minutes in duration. Fortunate in a plain and sensible mind, not unstored with the results of reading and reflection, my deceased friend and colleague was one of tion, my deceased friend and colleague was one of those who thought it safer, and perhaps not less seemly, rather to think and act without talking, than to talk and act without thinking.

At the close of the convention, he returned to

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS.

The SPEAKER announced the first business in order to be the motion heretofore made by Mr. WALBERDGE, to suspend the rules, to enable him to introduce a resolution, providing for an adjournment of the two houses of Congress, sine die, on the 3d of July next.

The rules were suspended—yeas 104, nays 38, when Mr. WALBRIDGE offered an amendment, sul Mr. WALBRIDGE offered an amendment, substituting for the 3d the 17th day of July.

Mr. ORR proposed a substitute for the resolution, naming the 14th of August as the time for adjournment. This would afford ample opportunity for the transaction of the public business.

Mr. HAVEN offended, as a substitute, the joint of the public business.

Mr. HAVEN offended, as a substitute, the joint resolution of the Senate, proposing to adjourn on the third of July until the third Monday in October. Fix the time of adjournment, and the necessary work would be done. From what he had seen, Congress had got themselves into a kind of demoralization, so to speak, and would not be able to do valuable service until they shall come to the service of the second of the second gether at some future day after a separation, as the resolution proposed.

Mr. ORR said that the principal inducement for his voting to-day to suspend the rules, was to defeat the Senate's resolution. He was opposed to Congress taking a recess. It was imprecedented in the history of the government. They should pursue the usual course, and fix the earliest practicable day for adjournment.

Mr. HILLYER indicated a resolution which he proposed to submit, proposing an adjournment on the first Monday in August, and that hereafter the time of annual meeting shall be the third Mon-day of October, instead of the first Monday of De-

day of October, instead of the first Monday of December.

Mr. McMULLEN opposed the adoption of any resolution relative to adjournment. He thought the better plan was to go to work, and after transacting the public business, they would be prepared to adjourn, and not before.

Mr. HAVEN was impressed with the idea that if Congress remain in session, they will keep the country in turmoil, without doing service. He mentioned several reasons why the Senate's resolution should be adopted; among them, that disease is approaching us and the cholera is abroad, and that a quorum cannot be kept here without keeping the sergeant-at-arms scouring the city for the absentees.

Mr. TAYLOR, of Ohio, advocated the fixing of

Mr. JONES, of Tennessee, spoke about the neglect of public business by the House; and, thinking that it was time to fix the day for an adjournment, was in favor of the 14th of August. Mr. EWING did not believe any good would be accomplished by remaining here till August, and, therefore, he was in favor of fixing the earliest for the adjournment. for the adjournment.

Mr. KEITT wished to substitute the 15th of September for the fifteenth of August. He desired that the adjournment should be postponed long enough to enable the House to do all the business which they pretended they would do. He understood that the democratic party were elected on a platform of principles, many of which have not been carried out. SILVER MINES IN TAMPOOSA-GREAT EXCITE-MENT.-We learn from the Dadeville (Florida) Banner, that that country is now realizing one of those excitements produced by the discovery of precious metals in large quantities, to which she has occasionally been subject for many years, that bids fair to equal any of its predecessors in intensity, and probably with juster causes. It has been known for several years that silver existed in large quantities in the southwestern portion of the country, or rather southwest of this place, in the neighborhood of Blue Creek, and between there and Tallahassee Falls, but they have heretofore been unable to do what they seem now to have accomplished to complete success, discovered means by which they are enabled to separate the silver from the ore and other metals with which it is mixed. By this process, we learn that a company the other day extracted in a very short time sixteen lbs. of pure metal, which set the country in a Il'r Sick Headache Remedy.-A remedy for the sick headache, which has been recently offered to the public, is attracting great attention, not only by reason of the very satisfactory testimonials to its efficacy which have been volunteered by many its efficacy which have been volunteered by many who have been benefited by it, but also because there are so great a number of people who are afficted with the distressing complaint, for which no medicine has before been made public. Dr. Eastman, who discovered the efficacy of his "remedy," is a physician in this city, in high standing, with a large practice. He is a physician in whom great confidence is placed; and we do not would great confidence is placed; and we do not wonder that his remedy for a very common disease, which has been so long needed, has attracted the attention of all sufferers from headache who have heard of it. From our own knowledge of Dr. Eastman's char acter and practice, we have no doubt that the med-cine deserves the favor it receives, and that it will prove to be a great benefit to all who may give it a trial.—Lynn News, December 23, 1853. A3-Stimulating Limiment, as prepared at Gilman's drug store, is deserving of the highest commendation as a cure for Chronic and Acute Rheumatism. It seldom, if ever, fails to give speedy and permanent relief. This Liniment has been prepared by Z. D. Gilman, chemist of this city for many years, and since its introduction has been extensively used by many of the most respectable families in the District and vicinity, to whom reference can be made at any time as to its magical effects in curing Rheumatism, even in elderly persons, who had been sufferers for a long time. It was originally made for horses, for the cure of lameness, saddle galls, &c., and is now much used for such purposes, being an invaluable article wherever a Liniment is required either for man or beast.

Meeting of the Councils and Inauguration of Mayor.—The board of aldermen was organized Dr. Miller, of the Board of Common Council, to resterday morning by the election of Silas H. Hill carry into effect the joint resolution of thanks to as president, Robert Clarke as vice-president, E. Middleton as secretary, and Jacob Kleiber as messenger. Mr. Hill, on taking the chair, ex- able duty imposed upon them has been performed, pressed his thanks for the high honor conferred upon him, saying that he would, to his utmost capacity, discharge the responsible duties devolved upon him, relying upon the fraternal and courteous ver water kettle, with suitable inscriptions, exfeelings which had heretofore characterized the body. He congratulated his fellow-members on after an original design by our talented and inthe city's prosperity, and expressed the hope that genious fellow-citizen, J. Goldsborough Bruff; their legislation would redound to the welfare of the metropolis.

The board of common council organized by the election of Alexander McD. Davis as president, and Jacob Kleiber messenger. The election of secretary was postponed, and Mr. Barry was requested to act in that capacity pro tempore.

Dr. Davis, on taking the chair, spoke as follows

"Gentlemen of the board of common council: Your generous confidence, manifested in elevating me to this office, has imposed great and important responsibility. Permit me to tender to you, gen tlemen, and to your constituents at large, an earnest pledge that my best endeavors and feelings shall be devoted faithfully to fulfill the duties of the office. Bringing with me but little experience in this particular branch of duty, I am confident that I will have to appeal to the good feeling which placed me here to excuse, not the faults of admin istration, but my misapprehension of duty.

"Gentlemen, allow me to congratulate you on the recent appeals made to the people. Their verdict is seldom wrong. You are their chosen trusted representatives, and as such I feel a proud assurance that you will extend to me the courtesy which has ever been manifested to render the duties of the chair comparatively light, and to conribute to the full and faithful performance of pubic duty in the public affairs. Again, gentleman I thank you for the distinguished honor."

The two branches of the councils assembled in joint meeting in the chamber of the commo ouncil, Mr. Hill presiding. A committee, consisting of a member from each ward, was appointed to count the votes cast for mayor, and, after performing that duty, reported the following result: For J. T. Towers, 3,000; J. W. Maury, 2,591; J. M. Carlisle, 1; Blank, 7. The chairman thereupon declared Mr. Towers elected mayor for the term of two years, and appointed Messrs. Busey and Borrows to wait upon the mayor elect and conduct him to the chamber for inauguration. Dr. Borrows said that, under other circumstances, he would consider it the proudest epoch of but, owing to the relations between himself and the mayor elect, he was compelled to decline. He hoped that the cause of alienation would be removed, and their former pleasant relations re stored. It was an honest difference of opinion. The chairman then appointed Mr. Reed as member of the committee, in the place of Dr. Bor-

Mr. Towers subsequently came into the room, accompanied by ex-Mayor Maury and the comnittee, and was received standing. Having approached the desk, he delivered the following ad-

Our sphere of action embraces the powers of taxation and expenditure, the rights of persons and of property, upon the just exercise and faithful protection of which, in their varied relations, depend the welfare and honor of the community. The charter has wisely blended these, our most important powers, thus rendering unity of action important powers, thus rendering unity of action and harmony of feeling essential to their proper

To you, my fellow-citizens. I feel under a deep sense of gratitude for your confidence and regard. Appreciating the various interests and responsi-bilities which pertain to the office I am about to assume, I shall enter upon the performance of its duties deeply embarrassed by the recollection that it is a position which has been filled by gentlemen of the highest and most varied abilities, and at a of the highest and most varied abilities, and at a time, too, in our city's history, the most interesting since its foundation; but I shall do so with the hope that I shall deserve to be sustained by your confidence and support. In my past services, in the high obligation of duty, in the sentiments of gratitude, I proudly feel that you will recognize sufficient guaranties that I will "lawfully execute the duties of the office, to the best of my skill and judgment, without favor or partiality." and I trust udgment, without favor or partiality," and I trust that when I shall surrender the charge now committed to me. I shall at least deserve the commendation, that I have zealously labored to advance the growth of our city, and the prosperity and hap

H ADLEY & FIELD'S AMERICAN Writing Fluid.—It is generally understood, except among stationers and others, whose avocations have especially led to an appreciation of the value of a perfectly fluid ink, that the secret of the process of producing such a fluid has not, until recently, been discovered in this country. To produce an ink which should be a perfect chemical combination has been a problem, the solution of which has long exercised in vain the skill of American manufacturers of this indispensable article.
The only inks in market having any claim to the The only inks in market having any claim to the possession of this characteristic have, until the introduction of that to which we now refer, been imported. Hadley & Field's ink is the result of practical and elaborate experiment, by one of our nost accomplished and scientific chemists, and i laimed to be fully equal to any imported in claimed to be fully equal to any imported ink. Every test of its quality is freely invited, and the fullest testimony is given by those who have used it that it is in every respect equal to the English ink, (Arnold & Stephens's.) which have hitherto commanded an extensive sale in the American market at high prices. It is already widely used, and its excellence attested by many of our principal banks, insurance companies, and merchants; and, from our own knowledge of its value, we advise those who appreciate the luxury of using a really good ink to give Hadley and Field's a trial.
